WPA Allocates $6,374,000 For County Water Project

DEAL TURNED OVER TO WPA IN CAPITAL

News of Allotment and of Shift by Engineers is Received in S. A.

SPELLING success for the many months of work on the part of Orange county officials to secure favorable action by the federal government in making a grant of $6,374,000 as the government's share in the proposed $12,994,000 Orange county flood control and water conservation program, The Register learned today that the national allotment board has made the $6,374,000 allocation to this country for the water program.

Unexpectedly, however, instead of being classified as a straight government project similar to the Newport harbor development program or as a Public Works administration project, the water project has been shifted to the Works Progress administration, it was learned.

News of the allotment of the government funds for the project came today from H. H. Cotton, San Clemente, Democratic leader in the state. Cotton announced that WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins requested Frank Y. McLaughlin, state WPA director, to take charge of the project.

Hopkins was quoted as saying that there is not sufficient PWA funds with which to carry out the big project.

Furnish Aid While the project would be done under WPA, should the electors of Orange county approve the $6,620,000 bond issue which is required before the project could be launched, the government board of army engineers would furnish any technical assistance needed, Cotton said.

Use of the government grant on the water project depends on the approval of the bond issue by county voters. In this same connection, the board of supervisors of Orange county today adopted a resolution pledging the board not to issue or sell the flood control bonds if voted by the electors, unless or until the application for the government grant was approved by the proper authorities of the federal government and said grant of funds is legally authorized.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—(UP)—With the "hot cargo" dispute between longshoremen and waterfront employers temporarily at a stalemate, employers today prepared to move the American Hawaiian freighter Iowan, tied up at pier 26 since August 5.

The freighter will be manned by an all-Filipino crew, except for firemen and licensed officers, the employers announced. They declared the crew had been signed after efforts to obtain a white personnel to work with Filipinos already employed had failed.

The River Lines barge, Sutter, which precipitated the hot cargo dispute Saturday by dropping consignments at 11 piers, was expected back today with more cargo for valley points. The barge's union, an international longshoremen's association affiliate, has been on strike against River Lines for three months.

$400,000 WILL IS HELD TO BE VOID LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(UP)—A purported will of Albert L. Cheney which would have given the bulk of his $400,000 estate to Mrs. Hazel Belford Glab, auburn-haired widow, was held void today.

Branding the document as "spurious," Judge William J. Palmer refused to admit it to probate.

The decision ended a 10-day court battle between Mrs. Glab and Mrs. Catherine Cheney Taylor, daughter of the wealthy financier, who sought to have the will set aside.

Mrs. Glab, who admitted that she lay at the side of Cheney when he died in a Las Vegas, Nev., hotel bedroom last March, said when she heard the decision.

Coal Miners Demand Nine Cents Boost

Last Word Issued Today by Union Leader; Impatient at Delay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Expressing impatience at delay of the soft coal conference in reaching a strike settlement, John L. Lewis, mine leader, today declared his men had made their last concession on wage terms and would insist upon a conclusion of the negotiations.

"Our last word is nine cents a ton. They can take it or leave it," Lewis said.

He referred to the tonnage wage increase demand which is the hub of conference discussion. The miners originally asked for 15 cents a ton increase for this type of labor, later reduced that figure to 10 cents, and on the eve of the strike conceded one cent further.

As the strike began Sunday midnight, operators were reported willing to grant a 6.9 cent increase in tonnage rates and have not officially advanced their offer since that time. Both groups are in agreement now on the 50 cent per day increase in day rates asked by the miners.

Lewis said several plans of compromise had been under discussion.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24.—(UP)—The panoply of America-on-parade—the American Legion—held the spotlight in St. Louis today, 17 years after that organization held its birth in this city.

Thousands of the army that rallied to the call of "Save Democracy" passed in review before an audience estimated at one-half million.

Steel-helmeted bands, brightly caparisoned drum and bugle corps, swung past the reviewing stand, vying for national honors.

There were the clanging "40 et 8" voices of the fun section of the Legion.

The whole Legion, in all its many ramifications, was on parade today. It was the feature of a four-day gathering which opened brilliantly yesterday.

Keynote of the convention was struck by a score of opening speakers when they singly demanded strict adherence to the constitutional ideals of America.

Aside from a parade of the "40 et 8," the usually roisterous affair, Monday evening's program was featured by the annual dinner to Commander Frank N. Belgrano Jr., of San Francisco.

Outside, overhead, enterprising Cleveland, Ohio, advertised her devotion to the legion.

NEGLIGENT DRIVING BLAMED BY JURY IN GIRL'S DEATH

A FEW minutes after Walter M. Erickson, 21, 134 East One Hundred and Thirteenth street, Los Angeles, was arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court on a homicide charge, in connection with the death of Vera Duraine, 22, also of Los Angeles, near Laguna Beach Sunday morning, a coroner's jury returned a verdict that the car in which the girl was riding at the time was being driven in a negligent manner.

Erickson, reported driver of the machine did not testify at the coroner's inquest, on advice of his attorney, R. S. Ryan, of Los Angeles.

The jury did not name him in its report as the driver of the car, merely returning a verdict that Vera Duraine came to her death in a crash which was due to the negligent manner in which the car was driven.

Harry Aldrich, California Highway Patrol officer, testified that Erickson told him at the scene of the accident that he did not know how the accident occurred. He said the youth told him that he left Los Angeles at 7 p. m. Saturday night, driving to Mission Beach and that he had two drinks Saturday night, that he stopped at the home of friends there and slept two hours, but that he could not remember whether he drank

BARRYMORE AND ELAINE RECONCILED

Don Juan of Stage and His 19-year Old Protege Settle Differences

GALLUP, N. M., Sept. 24.—(UP)—John Barrymore and his secretary boarded the Grand Canyon Limited of the Santa Fe railroad here shortly after noon today, bound for Los Angeles, where they will arrive at 8:15 a. m. tomorrow.

GALLUP, N. M., Sept. 24.—(UP)—John Barrymore, Don Juan of stage and screen, was completely reconciled with Elaine Barrie, his 19-year-old protegee, in a lengthy telephone conversation late yesterday, it was believed here today.

Barrymore, it was learned, telephoned Miss Barrie from the lonely Wallace Indian trading post at Zuni pueblo, 40 miles south of Gallup yesterday afternoon, and talked with her for a full hour.

From loiterers in the store, it was learned that Barrymore began the conversation by telling Miss Barrie in terms described as "abusive," that he was "through with her."

Gradually, it was said, he became more affable, until, after the long distance to New York had consumed almost an hour, he was addressing her in "loving language."

It was said that he ended the call by making an appointment to see her in New York within two weeks. There is no phone booth in the trading post, so that Barrymore's conversation was easily overheard, it was said.

Last night Miss Barrie telephoned the actor at his Gallup hotel, at which time the reconciliation was believed to have progressed even further.

TRADE AIR STATION FOR ARMY'S FIELD OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Secretary of War George H. Dern revealed today that the U. S. army will give the navy Rockwell Field at San Diego in return for the Sunnyvale naval air station which formerly housed the dirigible Macon.

Dern said the swap was part of General Douglas MacArthur's program for concentrating the strength of the national defense.

The army plans to make Sunnyvale its main aviation base on the Pacific coast and one of the strongest in the nation, Dern indicated.

Transfer of men and equipment will start soon. Sunnyvale has been operated with a skeleton force since the Macon crashed into the Pacific last spring. Naval planes made it their base during their summer maneuvers.

GLINN MARTIN IS HERE ON VACATION

Glenn Martin, famous aviation engineer and expert, arrived in Santa Ana this morning to spend part of a three week's vacation. He is registered at the Hotel Rosemore.

Martin's mother, who has been living in Hollywood, will join him here in a few days, it was said, and they will spend several days in visiting with friends in the city.

While in Santa Ana Martin plans to devote a good part of his time to settling up the estate of his father, the late C. Y. Martin, and selling the Martin home.

Experts Pick Joe By Knockout Before 9th

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Joe Louis will knock out Maxie Baer somewhere between the fifth and ninth rounds in their heavyweight battle at Yankee stadium tonight, according to a majority of 37 boxing writers polled by the United Press today.

Twenty-six of the sports reporters predicted Louis would win, while the remaining 11 cast their votes for Baer. A majority of those picking the ex-champion thought he would win by a k. o. between the second and fifth rounds.

Only five thought the bout would go the limit, two favoring Baer to get the decision and three forecasting a verdict for Louis.

The following picked Louis: Ed Frayne, Sid Mercer and Lewis Burton, N. Y. American; Dan Parker, Murray Lewin and Jim Jennings, N. Y. Mirror; Jimmy Powers and George Dixon, N. Y. Daily News; Dick Vidmer and Caswell Adams, N. Y. Herald-Tribune; Jimmy Dawson and Fred Van Ness, N. Y. Times; Wilbur Wood and Ed Van Every, N. Y. Sun; Bill Corum, N. Y. World-Telegram; Tom Laird, San Francisco News; Bob Considine, Washington Herald; Bill McGoonin, St. Louis Post-Dispatch; Wilfred Smith, Chicago Tribune; Marvin McCarty and Gene Kessler, Chicago Times; Ed Dickinson, Grand Rapids, Mich.

The following selected Baer: Hype Igoe, N. Y. Journal; Lester Scott and Francis Wallace, N. Y. World-Telegram; Paul Gallico and Grant Powers, N. Y. WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—An almost continuous stream of callers trooped to the White House today where President Roosevelt worked through an accumulation of state business in an effort to leave on his west coast trip Thursday night with a clear desk.

The president's calling list was packed with names. Yesterday he received almost 40 visitors for brief conferences. Today he intended to see almost as many.

In addition the cabinet was summoned for a meeting this afternoon, the last until Mr. Roosevelt returns to Washington about a month hence.

First visitor of the day was Undersecretary of Agriculture Rexford Tugwell who came to discuss rural rehabilitation problems.

Next was Assistant Secretary of Navy Henry Roosevelt and Admirals William Standley and Emory S. Land, called in to review progress of the navy building program.

The president, it was explained, has followed the program closely, studying its progress with navy officials at least once a month.

White House officials declined to outline the itinerary that Mr. Roosevelt will follow on his trip west. They said he would leave Thursday evening, but indicated that any additional information would come only at that time and not before.

It is known, however, that the president will proceed via St. Louis, Omaha, Cheyenne, Wyo., Salt Lake City to Boulder dam where a set speech is scheduled to be made in connection with dedication exercises.

From Boulder dam his special train will carry him into Los Angeles where he will attend a luncheon. From that city he will motor to San Diego to visit the exposition.

If time were available the president hoped to take an hour or two tonight to select the fishing equipment that he will use on his leisurely cruise from San Diego back home by way of the Panama canal.

ITALY WAITS FIRST MOVE BY COUNCIL

In Meantime British Cabinet Meets and Approves Geneva Stand

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—(UP)—A five-nation committee moved to seek a solution of the Italian-Ethiopian dispute adopted a final report today, confessing failure and throwing the entire dispute back to the League of Nations council.

Now the council, after months in which it had hoped against hope that a friendly solution might be reached, must decide what final steps to take to avert war and how to deal with war if it comes.

Delegates foresaw six months of crisis before it would be possible to liquidate the dispute. The report of the committee of five—Great Britain, France, Poland, Spain and Turkey—was expected to be submitted to the council Thursday morning. It will say that the committee can go no further with its work.

Delegates were hopeless of immediate results toward preserving peace.

The Italian cabinet's communication in Rome was interpreted as meaning Italy is awaiting the league's next move and intends no overtures meanwhile. The phrase about Mussolini envisaging the attitude Italy would adopt if certain articles of the covenant are applied was given various interpretations.

Some believed it to be a veiled threat that Mussolini would quit the league if articles 15 and 16 (the penalty sections) are applied. Others thought Mussolini merely envisaged the next diplomatic LEVELAND, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Proud leaders, "insane in their own conceits," who are about to plunge the world into war "with no compassion for the multitude," were assailed before the national Eucharistic congress today by Archbishop John T. McNicholas of Cincinnati.

The prelate's idea for peace was made before thousands of Catholics here to reaffirm their belief in the blessed Eucharist.

Standing on the rostrum at public auditorium—transformed for the congress into a vast "cathedral"—the churchman pleaded for universal education and the incorporation of moral training in the schools.

His plea for world peace was echoed by Patrick Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York and the personal representative of Pope Pius XI in a prayer, the cardinal said.

"May the congress prove a mighty prayer that the menacing clouds of war may be dissipated by the radiant splendor of the Prince of Peace."

Hold High Mass Remarks of the two great Catholics.

Billings Is Taken From Prison Cell

Goes "Outside" for First Time in 19 Years; Will Appear at Hearing

FOLSOM PRISON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Warren K. Billings emerged from Folsom prison today, took his first breath of "outside" air in 19 years, and started for San Francisco to testify in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Tom Mooney, his partner in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing episode.

The smiling, talkative little man who agitated labor trouble during the early years of the World war, strode through the main prison gates with Warden Court Smith and entered the warden's automobile, driven by Guard J. E. Pruitt. No one else accompanied them on the matter-of-fact drive to the city.

"I'm a little excited, but not much," Billings said, acting a bit nervous. "I'd just as soon stay here, so long as I can't go out a free man."

Taken in Sedan The sedan drove away from the prison at 10:10 a. m. Warden Smith said he intended to drive through Sacramento, Vacaville and

JAMES FARLEY DEFENDS NEW DEAL IN TALK

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley said in a speech today that attacks on the new deal's constitutionality prove that "things are looking so fine the old crew of wreckers is straining every nerve to get back into power."

Farley, opening the 35th convention of the national association of postmasters, declared that business men and corporations who begged President Roosevelt to save them by any means didn't worry about constitutionality in 1933.

"The president took command of a derelict craft and pulled us off the reef," he said. "Things are looking so fine now that the old crew of wreckers, in business and politics, that led us into the shipwreck are straining every nerve to get back into power."

"That is the real meaning of all these assaults on the new deal. That is the reason the men and

DEFENSE IN MURDER TRIAL OPENS TODAY

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Defense of three Oakland youths accused of the murder of Police Chief E. G. Fish of North Sacramento was expected to be started today or tomorrow after a rapid parade of prosecution witnesses had told the story of the midnight slaying in a residential suburb.

The defendants, Alfred Paine, Hugh G. Smith and George Wallace, listened nervously to the testimony of 15 witnesses called in rapid order yesterday. They were to hear seven or eight more today.

District Attorney Otis D. Babcock will demand that the jury of four men and eight women return a death verdict against the trio.

SOLON'S CONDITION REPORTED IMPROVED

MOSCOW, Sept. 24.—(UP)—The condition of Sen. J. Hamilton Lewis, Illinois Democrat, was slightly improved today, his physicians announced.

The patient, their announcement said, continues to resist the spread of pneumonia to his left lung. Improvement was attributed largely to the fact that the heart had become more regular.

The count indicated a decision would be made later in the day. Lines of the jurors caused postponement of the inquest last night until 1 p. m. today.

SUPERVISORS VOTE TO PAY DEFAULTED BONDS CHARGES

THE COUNTY supervisors today made preparations for payment of a $65,000 charge upon the county in the form of defaulted bonds and interests of various special assessment districts in the county.

A resolution introduced by Supervisor W. C. Jerome, of Santa Ana, was adopted by the board, authorizing payment of the default, amounting to $65,000.75.

The grand total of $75,530.35 of bonds and interest in default for the 14 special districts, is off-set to the extent of $10,329.99 in funds

CALIFORNIAN HAS WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

Louis Rules Favorite by 2 to 1 Odds; 90,000 to Witness Battle

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Max Baer will carry a weight advantage of 11 1/4 pounds when he faces Joe Louis in tonight's "million-dollar" prize fight at Yankee Stadium.

The Californian weighed 201 1/2 pounds and the Detroit Bomber was caught at 199 1/4 when they were examined this afternoon.

The largest crowd in history of New York boxing milled about the State office building where the principals were examined. More than 5000 filled West street. Thirty policemen had difficulty keeping a lane open.

At least 90,000 persons are expected to witness the contest tonight and the receipts will be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

Louis Favorite At noon Louis ruled a 2 to 1 favorite and may go into the ring at even greater odds.

Louis wearing a double-breasted blue suit and a red necktie checked in at noon. It was more than one hour later before Baer appeared, wearing a brown knitted polo shirt and light flannel trousers.

Baer came to New York last night. Louis was driven here from his Pompton Lakes camp this morning. Two Negro New York detectives formed his bodyguard. They were escorted by two New Jersey state troopers. Louis was accompanied by his co-managers, John Roxborough and Julian Black, and by his trainer, Jack Blackburn.

The weighing-in was scheduled for 1 p. m., and Baer arrived on the dot. He was accompanied by his manager, Ancil Hoffman, his trainer, Izzy Kline, and one of his retainers, Jerry Casselle.

They met first in the office of the boxing commission. It was merely "hello, Joe" and "hello, Maxie." They shook hands casually. It had been reported that Baer might "crack wise" about Louis' impending marriage to Marva Trotter of Chicago. Joe had promised to put on the fight in the commission room if Maxie did in the office.

Given Examination After receiving routine instructions from the commissioners headed by Gen. John Phelan, chairman, they were taken down stairs to the examining room. Dr. William Walker and Dr. Harris Feinberg, official commission physicians, were in charge. They reported both men in excellent condition.

BANDITS ROB IOWAN OF $3750 IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Two bandits, leaping out of an automobile, early today slugged Col. C. E. Bowers, 55, retired Des Moines, Iowa, insurance man, and robbed him of $3750 he wanted to bet on Max Baer and a watch which they returned to his apartment, according to police.

Regarding consciousness an hour later, Bowers staggered to his apartment and summoned police. While awaiting their arrival, he said he heard a noise in the living room and, investigating, saw a man dash out of the front door.

On the table was the watch, wrapped in a piece of paper on which was written, "there is your watch." Bowers said the mysterious visitor was not one of the two footpads.

He said he would "spend $5000 to get those fellows."

STATE OFFICIAL IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Search was continued in the bay area today for William B. Shearer, state treasury cashier wanted on charges of grand theft.

A grand larceny complaint, accusing him of embezzling $24,313 over a period of three or four years, spurred the search. State officials were fearful the 74-year-old former candidate for lieutenant governor would and his life rather than return here to face the charges.

ITALY AWAITS FIRST ACTION FROM COUNCIL

CABINET BACKS UP BRITAIN'S COURSE

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—The British cabinet met today and unanimously approved Britain's course in the Ethiopian dispute, including Britain's stand at Geneva for complete enforcement of the league covenant.

The cabinet, after hearing a summary by Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, of all action to date, ratified the steps taken.

It approved a decision to continue Britain's policy on the lines previously announced, including Hoare's speech at Geneva in support of the covenant.

The cabinet met today for the first time since August 21 to consider the increasingly grave Italian-Ethiopian crisis and the possibility that developments serious enough to convene parliament in special session might arise.

Masses Fleet

During the five weeks since Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin last called the cabinet together, when the situation was beginning to get acute, the government has raised a gigantic fleet in the Mediterranean, sped soldiers, airplanes and war materials to the entire Mediterranean area and reinforced defenses at its bases.

The cabinet had before it a report from Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, on the activities at Geneva, and the results of a visit which Sir Eric Drummond, ambassador to Italy, made yesterday to Benito Mussolini.

The nature of this visit was not known, although it was believed to be of major importance and no uncertainty, according to Rome reports, encouraging. Newspapers reported Drummond gave Mussolini a most important secret message from Hoare.

It was indicative of many reasons for calm here that news of fleet movements subsided, because most ships are in or near positions assigned to them. The fourth destroyer flotilla and the mine-sweeper Dunoon have arrived at Malta, the cruiser Australia and the submarine Clyde at Alexandria, and the destroyer Diana at Singapore from the China fleet.

There were many signs that even without cabinet meetings the government has receded definitely on its course and has taken all possible precautions.

ITALIAN CABINET HEARS MUSSOLINI

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)

ROME, Sept. 24.—(UP)—The Italian cabinet heard from Premier Benito Mussolini today what he proposed to do in case of international penalties against Italy, and passed a series of sweeping measures to prepare the army, navy and air force for the East African campaign.

There was nothing in the result of the meeting to indicate any weakening in Mussolini's determination to enforce his will against Ethiopia.

For some unannounced reason, the cabinet postponed indefinitely the test mobilization of more than 10,000,000 Fascist men, women and children, which had been set tentatively for tonight.

The cabinet's communique denied

Italy had made counter-proposals to the League of Nations after rejecting the proposals of the league's conciliation committee of five last Saturday.

Adopts Measures

After announcing that the cabinet had adopted various internal measures connected directly with the East African campaign, the communique said:

"Premier Mussolini afterwards examined possible developments in the situation on the basis of certain articles of the (league) covenant and the attitude Italy would adopt under the circumstances."

The text of the section of the communique dealing with the league follows:

"Premier Mussolini made a brief report on the political situation from Saturday until today. Mussolini said Italy had not presented counter-proposals to Geneva but only verbally exposed his motives for finding the proposals of the committee of five unacceptable."

"All that has occurred from Saturday to today has proved that the attitude of the Italian government could not have been different."

Premier Mussolini afterwards examined possible developments in the situation on the basis of certain articles of the (league) covenant and the attitude Italy would adopt under the circumstances."

One of the cabinet's decrees approved the appropriation of 1,000,000 lire ($214,000) for construction of anti-gas shelters at Messina, Sicily. Similar construction is proceeding in other sections of southern Italy.

M'Lauchlan Out On $5000 Bail

Charles M'Lauchlan, 27, Santa Ana, charged on two counts with criminal syndicalism preferred by the Santa Ana police department, was free today on bail of $5000.

Bail for that amount was made in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court late yesterday when a property bond was posted, signed by Dorothy Weeks Clark, Hollywood, and Paul and Stella Nunan, of Laguna Beach.

M'Lauchlan, arrested several days ago, was arraigned in the justice court here Monday morning at which time he pleaded not guilty to the charges. His preliminary examination was set for October 1, at 9 a. m.

corporations who begged Roosevelt to save them three years ago are assailing him and the methods he pursued to get them out of the hole.

"They did not worry about the constitutionality of what he was attempting. They had nothing to say about the so-called invasion of state rights, and they were not hiring high-priced lawyers to pick flaws in the laws that meant the salvation of their enterprises."

The postal chief told the several thousand mail men that talk of a breaking down of the new deal was "a matter of just plain politics" and that "you will hear a great deal more of this stuff between now and election day."

Farley, escorted before the convention by a cordon of 100 uniformed letter carriers and two bands, brought the greetings of President Roosevelt, whom, he said, "history will record as one of the most humane and most understanding of all our presidents."

He urged the postmasters to provide, to the fullest extent, a five day week for their workers.

"But I want no waste of public money and above all I want no impairment of existing postal service."

The theft of an automobile from a Santa Ana street last night was solved today when two Santa Ana men were taken into the Laguna Beach court today, one of them charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

M. D. McGouchy, of 736 South Garnsey street, reported the theft of his automobile from between Third and Fourth streets on Broadway last night.

A short time later, Ernest S. Allsman, 21, of 2129 South Sycamore street, Santa Ana was arrested for driving while intoxicated. With him at the time was Joe G. Rodriguez of 2337 South Olive street.

Allsman acted so suspiciously in court that an investigation of the car was made, revealing that it was the property of McGouchy. The youths were returned to the county jail here this afternoon by Harry Fink, assistant chief of police. He said that charges of driving a car without the owners' consent would be filed against the prisoners.

CAPTURES BATTING TITLE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Oscar (The Ox) Eckhardt, burly Mission outfielder, today wore his third Pacific Coast league batting crown won in the closest finish the circuit has seen in a decade.

Blasting four bashes in his last game of the season, Eckhardt nudged his average up to .399 to nose out Joe DiMaggio, sad-faced San Francisco slugger, by a single point.

Baer Wins Point

The argument continued to rage over the gloves with Julian Black, co-manager of Louis, claiming the protecting flap would hinder a straight punch like the Brown Bomber but would prove an aid to a swinger like Baer.

Hoffman maintained the gloves would make for a cleaner fight, as they would prevent thumbing or gouging.

"It will be for the best interests of everyone if the California type glove is used," said Hoffman.

After considerable wrangling, Hoffman finally won his battle and the boxing commission and Louis' handlers agreed to use "California" gloves.

Baer also won another point when the commission agreed to allow the fighters' bandages to be increased. Twelve feet of soft cloth will be permitted instead of the usual six feet, and six feet of surgeon's tape will be allowed instead of the usual four feet. Increasing the bandages will permit Baer to protect his hands, which bothered him in the Braddock bout.

Man Given Jail Term To Be Sent Back to Prison

Ralph Kennedy, sentenced to serve a year in the county jail here several days ago on a plea of guilty to a burglary charge, also will serve 17 months in San Quentin prison when he finishes his term here, it was learned today, in spite of the fact that the superior court judge who sentenced him did not take in consideration that he was free from San Quentin on probation.

Sheriff's officers said today that he would be turned back to San Quentin at the expiration of the jail sentence.

Kennedy was arrested in Long Beach after he is asserted to have broken into a cabin near Modjeska's home when household goods were stolen. He lives in San Diego.

MOTHER WHO ENDS LIFE GIVES ESTATE TO ORPHANED SON

"All of the rest I give to my dear boy, Gail, whom Leonard loved so dearly."

With those words of maternal tenderness, the late Elizabeth Evans, of Anaheim, who took her own life September 17, grief-stricken at the death of her husband, Attorney Leonard Evans, willed her unvalued estate to her son, aged 10, it was shown today when her will was filed for probate in superior court.

The young orphan, whose parents passed so nearly together, was bequeathed by his mother to the care of his aunt, Mrs. Orilla Bigelow, sister of his father, who was instructed to rear him and educate him "as Leonard would have liked to have him."

The will also asked that all household effects be stored away for the boy, and that his father's watches and pin be given to him upon his graduation.

Horace Benjamin and Fred A. Backs, of Anaheim, executors of the will, filed it for probate.

Vallejo on the main highway to San Francisco, crossing the bay via the Berkeley ferry and reaching the Hyde street terminal about 1:30 p. m.

There was no evident excitement connected with the departure, despite the fact it was the first time Billings had been outside the gates since he was 23 years old. He is 42 now.

Half an hour before he left, he was called to the warden's office and talked freely to reporters.

Then he went back to his cell and donned a dark blue business suit in place of his prison garb. He was smiling almost constantly, but even that was not unusual because Billings nearly always is cheerful.

Own Attorney

"I shall act as my own attorney," he said. "It will be Attorney Warren K. Billings representing Watchmaker Warren K. Billings."

Billings has become an expert watchmaker during his long term in one of the nation's toughest prisons.

"My sole purpose in going to San Francisco is to protect my own rights as a co-defendant," he said. "I feel I haven't been given the right recognition by the courts."

"Will I refuse to testify? That all depends on circumstances and the questions that are asked me. I think I know my law pretty well. I even believe I could pass a bar examination in anything but civil law. I've studied a great deal of law here."

He carried a law book and a transcript of the original murder trial when he climbed into the automobile.

Billings said he bore no animosity toward Mooney.

"You can disagree with a fellow and still be friends," he smiled.

Religious Substitutes

"In place of the moral code we have fickle public opinion, empty social conventions and a veneering of respectability. These substitutes for religion can impose no lasting restraint."

"Thoughtful men are beginning to realize we must choose between good homes and good schools. It is a thousand times better to have good homes than good schools. It is impossible to have both unless we have a fixed moral code. It is the duty of every community, working in closest cooperation with parents, to turn out good citizens from our schools rather than educated citizens who are bad or without a good moral sense."

Enlarging on his reference to a threatened European conflict, Archbishop McNicholas said the hungry people of the earth "cry out for bread and are given a stone," with all the powers of the earth, apprehensive, suspicious, tense, grasping, driven by exaggerated nationalism to the very verge of suicidal war.

Guilt Denied In Petty Theft Case

Mrs. Doris Giachino, Los Angeles, charged with petty theft, pleaded not guilty to the charge before Justice Kenneth Morrison today and her trial was set for October 22, at 9 a. m. She made bail of $500 for her appearance at that time.

She was arrested on August 15, at the Famous Department Store on East Fourth street when she is alleged to have shoplifted a number of clothes and other articles, which police said were taken from under her dress after she was grabbed by several store employees.

Mrs. Giachino asked for a jury trial.

Editor, Register,

Dear Sir:

High taxes have played havoc with many homes, homes that have adorned our cities and groves. With staggering taxes in every direction, the very sanctity of family life has been crushed and wounded. High taxes have forced many a family to leave their sacred abode and to find cheap and dilapidated quarters elsewhere.

On every side one hears: "Don't build. It's cheaper to rent." We know it is, but a community made up of nomads, where everybody wants to rent, is certainly not a sound social order.

The desire for a home is a human instinct, and it is no more than fair to grant a citizen the privilege and opportunity of providing for himself and his family a home of his own. To do this, taxes must be lowered. But, the looming taxes are soaring higher and higher, and depriving our citizens of this privilege.

In spite of this, we are complacently allowing dictatorial powers to raise our taxes 21 per cent above last year.

It is today not a question of "The Forgotten Man". In many instances, he has preferred a dole to earning his bread by the sweat of his brow. The dole system ruined Rome and it has largely contributed to disrupting the morale of our people.

The deplorable consequence is a crushed, overburdened and "forgotten middle class." They have heroically shouldered their overtaxing burdens. In innumerable instances, the backbone of our nation, our substantial middle class has been brought to the very rim of financial ruin.

Reach Settlement In Damage Case

A settlement reached between Carl R. Edgar, distributor of beer in Orange county and Velma Cleveland, Fullerton, made just before Judge G. K. Scovel's superior court opened today, kept the case from going to trial.

The case was dismissed with prejudice. It was understood, however, that Edgar made a cash settlement to the woman, who had sued him for $6000 damages, in connection with a beer business in which she was connected on Highway No. 101, several months ago.

B. Z. McKinney, attorney for Mrs. Cleveland, declared the settlement "was a good one," but stated that the terms of the settlement were to be kept secret.

Players' Request For Use of Court Room Undecided

Appointed by the board of supervisors to act as a committee of one in deciding upon the use of one of the county court rooms by Santa Ana Community Players for their first autumn production, "The Belamy Trial," Supervisor William H. Jerome was to confer this afternoon with a committee from the Players' association, regarding the matter.

M. Burr Wellington, chairman, John Colwell and William H. Spurgeon were members of the Players' association who formed the committee with which Jerome was to meet in discussion of the matter. The question came before the supervisors again this morning, and definite decision was promised to be given some time this afternoon.

McAdoo in Action

Senator William Gibbs McAdoo was given considerable credit for the favorable action of the allotment board in granting the funds for Orange county's huge water project. It was brought out that Senator McAdoo has been keenly interested in Orange county's program and has been actively engaged in working for the interests of the program.

The move which took the big project out of the hands of the Army engineers and placed it in the WPA came as a surprise. One of the rules of WPA is that no project which amounts to more than $25,000 shall be done under WPA. More than that amount, and projects ordinarily go to PWA. Officials here, however, expected that the work would be done by the Army engineers.

Dan Mulherson, Orange county manager of the WPA, said today that he could put 2000 men on the project from Orange county at once. He estimated that this is about 80 per cent of the present case load. It is estimated that it will require the work of 5000 men on the project, meaning that many more would have to be imported from other counties.

A WORD OF COMFORT

In general you may have the reward which you desire and can attain the one you seek. Nevertheless, ends which are mutually contradictory cannot be secured, and if more than one sort of success is sought, all others must become incidental. Choose your goal. Be ready to pay the price for it in the sacrifice of everything else it need be. Just now your heart aches cruelly. You must not strive to still its anguish at the cost of defeating your supreme purpose in life. Keep your aim true.

GOVERNMENT NIGHT SCHOOL EMPLOYEES TO ASSIST CHEST DATE CHANGED

Federal, state, county and city employees will launch their part of the Community Chest campaign immediately. It was decided at a meeting of departmental chairman Kenneth E. Morrison, general chairman, held in Judge Morrison's court room with the following representatives attending, each a chairman for his or her department. Federal Division, Mrs. Zella Oxenart, chairman; post office, Frank Cannon; WPA, Fred P. Vaynes; SERA, Dorothy Preble; state division, Captain Henry Meehan; city division, Judge J. G. Mitchell, chairman; city hall department, L. H. Banks; police department, H. Pink; street and parks, S. P. Freeman; water department, H. N. Hayes and Charles Solomon; fire department, John Luxembourger.

County Division, Ray Adkinson, chairman; tax collector's office, L. B. Ott; veterans bureau, Harry D. Edwards; health department, Dr. K. H. Sutherland; auditor's department, L. H. Eckel; district attorney's office, R. Sandon; recorder's office, Ruby McFarland; welfare department, W. H. Penn; road department, P. N. Hood; agriculture department, D. W. Tubbs; assessor's office, Luther Anderson; sheriff's office, Logan Jackson.

Stressing the fact that Santa Ana is facing a serious situation, W. K. Hillyard, president of the Chest told the representative that "this year we are facing the test as to whether our community will adequately support the Chest and thus sustain the necessary social agencies that deal with governmental problems unmet through governmental agencies or revert back to the chaos occasioned last year when the Chest went out of existence. Governmental employees have an opportunity this year to demonstrate their participating citizenship by taking part 100 per cent instead of 50 per cent as we did in the last campaign.

"There are more than 500 employees in these various departments of government," Hillyard said, "and every one should support the work of these agencies to the limit of his or her financial ability."

DEEP-SEA EXPLORER TO BE AT CLAREMONT

That Dr. William C. Beebe, world's foremost under-seas explorer, inventor of the bathysphere, and author of many books of rare interest, is to lecture this year at Pomona college, has just been announced by the committee on auditorium events for the Claremont colleges.

The date of Monday night, December 9, has been announced for this feature when Dr. Beebe will tell his adventures "Five Hundred Fathoms Down," describing recent discoveries made 3028 feet below the surface of the sea, in his bathysphere, and showing motion pictures and colored slides in illustration.

Of equal interest is the promise of Admiral Richard Byrd on the afternoon and evening of January 27 who will be at Bridges auditorium to present his story of the second Byrd Antarctic expedition and "Little America," and remarkable motion pictures. The matinee program will be for students and young people and the evening for the general.

COURTS BUSY; DELAY BANDIT CASE TRIAL

Because all departments of superior court were occupied with criminal trials yesterday, and it appeared that these would not be finished today in time for the trial to start on schedule, the case of Robert Staumbaugh and Eugene Anderson, accused of the $4050 hold-up of Harry Weinberg, J. C. Penney company bank messenger, was postponed yesterday by Judge G. K. Scovel to October 7. The case is set in Judge A. Caminetti Jr.'s court.

The hold-up occurred on the night of August 24, when Weinberg went to make a deposit of store receipts including checks and cash, in a sidewalk depository of the First National bank of Santa Ana.

The wives of both men were originally held in connection with the case, but were later released.

Local Briefs Games, refreshments and a general good time are promised held forth to young people of the United Brethren church, at a party which the Christian Endeavor of the church is giving tonight in the parsonage, 1105 West Third street. The games program will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Dan Mulherson, Orange county manager of the Works Progress Administration, left for San Diego today to confer with district WPA officials regarding the status of WPA projects for this county and learn, if possible, when the program will be launched in this county.

L. A. 5 and 6 will meet tonight with club No. 5. Everyone with tickets to sell should come without fail, as supplies needed for the dinner will be based on ticket sales, officers said.

JUNIOR COLLEGE FACULTY HOST TONIGHT AT ANNUAL RECEPTION FOR STUDENTS

Welcoming approximately 400 freshmen and incoming sophomores to the school, members of the Santa Ana Junior college faculty will hold their annual reception tonight in the American Legion Veterans' hall.

The students will be received by the entire teaching force, headed by the Director and Mrs. D. K. Hammond. Special guests for the evening will be Superintendent and Mrs. Frank A. Henderson and members of the board of education, George R. Weils, Ridley Smith, Marion B. Youel, Raul Hays and Dr. Margaret Baker.

The program, under the direction of Calvin C. Flint, dean of men and social chairman of the faculty in the place of Miss Agnes Todd Miller, will begin at 8:30 o'clock. It will be composed of the reception, games, and ballroom dancing. Music will be furnished by the Blakey 16-piece orchestra from Fullerton Junior college. The orchestra was formerly directed by Jack McCarty, a Santa Ana junior college student now attending the University of Oregon.

Details for the reception were worked out at a meeting of the faculty when the following committees were appointed: decorations, Miss Lillian Dickson, chairman, assisted by Miss Frances Edge and Rufus Bond; refreshments, Miss Hazel Dawson, chairman, and Miss Lucinda Griffith and Horace Scott aiding; and games, Alan Revell, chairman, working with Miss Myrtle Martin and Miss Zena Leek.

PRISONER FACES COURT FOR ESCAPE

Charged with escaping an officer, Felipe Venzor, originally arrested on a burglary charge, was held to answer to the superior court from Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

Venzor staged a spectacular dash for freedom several days ago when he bounded out of a superior court room, where he had been taken for arraignment on a burglary charge. He dashed down the steps and out of the building with Deputy Sheriff Fred Humiston close behind. As he outdistanced the officer, Humiston fired at him twice.

Two blocks away Fred Faber, employee of the Orange County Title company grabbed the fleeing Venzor and held him until officers arrived.

The original charge against the man was for breaking into the Chavez store at Delhi, where little of value was taken. Venzor is a "two time loser" however, having served in New Mexico and in Texas penitentiaries for burglary.

On Thursday evening D. H. Tibbals will be the speaker, discussing "Club Handicraft" and "Handicraft Projects." The Rev. Samuel Edgar will be chairman of the Thursday meeting.

The program series is being given under the auspices of the leadership training committee, consisting of H. G. Nelson, Judge Kenneth Morrison, Frank Pierce, R. H. McArthur and Mrs. R. H. McArthur.

Wilbur To Speak At Leadership Training School

J. B. Wilbur of the Orange Y.M.C.A. will be the speaker at tonight's session of the leadership training course being conducted at the Santa Ana Y.M.C.A. It was announced today by Secretary Ralph Smedley.

The meeting will open at 7:30 o'clock with a general discussion of club program, techniques and methods. Wilbur will discuss "Program Planning" as his part of the session. A summary of the evening and a forum discussion of boys problems will follow the talk. Rev. O. Scott McFarland will be chairman.

On Thursday evening D. H. Tibbals will be the speaker, discussing "Club Handicraft" and "Handicraft Projects." The Rev. Samuel Edgar will be chairman of the Thursday meeting.

The program series is being given under the auspices of the leadership training committee, consisting of H. G. Nelson, Judge Kenneth Morrison, Frank Pierce, R. H. McArthur and Mrs. R. H. McArthur.

PUBLIC INVITED TO INSPECT BUILDINGS

The damaged condition of old buildings of the Santa Ana high school group, as the result of the 1932 earthquake, will be shown the public this evening when the school structures will be open for a tour of public inspection, announced by the board of education. The tour is planned to inform voters of the need of the rebuilding program, for which a $180,000 bond issue will be submitted to the voters next Thursday.

Police News

Sheriff's officers were called to El Modena yesterday afternoon on a report that Sally Romero, 48 years old, was missing. Officers were unable to learn anything about the case, they reported, not being able to contact members of the girl's family. The report came from the Orange police department.

BROADWAY WILL BROADCAST BIG FIGHT TONIGHT

Manager Lester J. Fountain of the Broadway theater today made available an unusual opportunity for fight fans and theatergoers to hear the exciting Baer-Louis heavyweight battle this evening over the clear, wide-range sound system in the Broadway theater.

Doors of the Broadway will open at 5:45 p. m. today and the broadcast of the fight will start promptly at 6 p. m. Fountain called attention to the fact that those who want to hear every word of the fight should listen to the broadcast over the wide-range sound system, which is vastly superior to the ordinary home radio.

There will be no extra charge for listening to the broadcast of the fight broadcast at the theater, Fountain said. Those who attend will be permitted to hear the fight broadcast and to stay for the regular program which starts at 8:45 p. m. If the fight ends early, patrons may leave and come back when the show starts, if they want to.

The regular program, which will be shown after the fight broadcast, includes the feature attraction, "Bright Lights," starring the ace comedian, Joe E. Brown in his greatest and funniest film. Colorful singing and dancing feature this picture, which presents the big-mouthed comedian in the same type of role which made him famous on the stage.

EVANGELIST TALKS ON WORLD CRISIS

Evangelist A. B. Arnold spoke to a well filled house last night at the Free Methodist church, Fruit and Minter streets, on the subject, "The World Crisis."

He stated that we are facing a most serious crisis and unless as a nation we get back to God we are doomed. "But," said the speaker, "the world is pleasure mad. The hand is writing on the wall but we do not see it. Babylon, Greece and Rome fell, not an account of the strength of their enemies, but because of inward corruption. So if our nation goes down it will be because of inward corruption."

"We are depending on man's intellect alone. What we need is a Holy Ghost revival of religion. We must get back to God and the Bible."

The evangelist will speak tonight and every night this week on various vital subjects.

BOURBONS PLAN REGULAR MEETS EVERY 2 WEEKS

A decision to hold regular luncheon meetings every two weeks, on Mondays, was reached by the Young Democratic club of Orange county at the initial luncheon event yesterday afternoon in James' cafe.

Organization of a permanent luncheon club was effected at the meeting yesterday. Dr. Perry Davis was named permanent chairman of the club, and will preside over future sessions.

Stanley Clem was chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment yesterday. He introduced Lynn H. Crawford, principal of the Santa Ana High school, who discussed the life of John C. Calhoun, famous Democratic senator during the days preceding the Civil war.

Every President who has visited Southern California to date has been entertained at the Mission Inn, it was said, and it is believed that President Roosevelt will accept the invitation. Word from the president's secretary indicated that the President would attend the luncheon, it was reported.

In 1928, 54.1 per cent of all cars financed were new cars. This ratio dropped steadily until 1932, after which there was a constant increase until for the first 11 months of 1934 new motor vehicles were 44.5 per cent of the total.

— News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

UNSOLVED.

The administration's munitions committee has discovered that saving the world from American shot and shell is ticklish business. It has split into two groups in preliminary discussions—those who would ban all goods which aid a nation at war, including toilet kits, and those who would restrict an embargo to actual war weapons. The latter seem to have the best of the argument behind the departmental doors.

Many problems were neglected when Congress rushed through this legislation. The legislators did not declare what constituted war munitions, although selling wheat to one belligerent may involve the United States in a conflict as quickly as furnishing cannon. The legislation says nothing about handling shipments to a neutral nation which may be reshipped to a belligerent—another potential cause of active hostility toward the United States.

Congress requires exporters and makers of arms to report on peace-time orders and movements to the State Department. But it did not say whether Secretary Hull should pigeon-hole this information or turn it over to the press periodically. If he doesn't, there will be a cry for "censorship." If he does, he will antagonize the foreign governments involved by disclosing their warlike intentions to their home peoples and foreign enemies. The committee may issue a comprehensive statement of its program but it has not solved these background problems to its own satisfaction.

EXPORTS.

Published figures on exports of war materials are misleading. They do not measure the flow of cotton, copper, chemicals and metals which set in toward all European nations in the last month—after Geneva's moves for peace seemed doomed to failure. Nor do they take into consideration suspicions that the stuff of war has been shipped under another label.

European orders in the last month exceed those of the six previous months. Exporters are working overtime to fill these orders before an outbreak of war forces the president to clamp down an embargo. That factor may explain Mussolini's postponement of warlike action more than the rains in Ethiopia. He has been storing up scrap iron, cotton, metals, trucks—and Chilean nitrate. Not to mention lemon pop for soldiers tolling under an equatorial sun.

War boom days are on the threshold. American industry is whipping itself into warlike stride, despite munitions legislation. Which recalls Senator Acheson's solemn warning that the Congress which voted for an embargo must resist the pull of profits and propaganda when the hushes blow. Off the record he included the state department in his warning.

FORWARD.

Big business has recovered from its economic and political fright. In a private exchange of views at the capital bankers, manufacturers and their allies have decided it was time to boost business and soft-pedal political acrimony. They will launch an economic offensive through fall and winter.

They feel that they are slowly recovering whatever prestige they lost in the 1929-1933 debacle. In a series of nation-wide meetings under the auspices of those rival organizations—the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers—they will present a new viewpoint. They will cite the experience of the last thirty months as evidence that politicians cannot promote real recovery, and that private industry must now take charge.

They aren't declaring dividends on the basis of the "breathing spell" pronouncement, holding it an armistice rather than permanent peace. They look for steadily improving conditions and point to the steel companies' expansion programs as proof. What bothers them most is large expenditures and taxes. They bank on the Supreme court to cast out many New Deal devils but they know that the "nine old men" can't outlaw tax bills.

MEN.

Filling Joseph Kennedy's place presents a problem much more difficult than New Dealers admit publicly. His insistence on quitting in the face of presidential pleadings to hang on was a shock to administer sides.

Although few realized it, Mr. Kennedy had become a symbol—and a promise—to the financial and industrial community. As chairman of the Securities Exchange commission he took over a law which enraged his old friends in Wall Street and made them like it. His administration of security restrictions suggested that perhaps many New Deal laws are not so bad if properly administered. His departure may stir ancient suspicions.

Mr. Kennedy's success also had an unadvertised influence on the president. In choosing men to inaugurate new experiments set up by the last congress he has sought the Kennedy type—cautious and sensible fellows. You can put in this class Joseph Warren Madden and John G. Winant—chiefs, respectively, of the National Labor Relations board and the Social Security board. Freddie-faced "Joe" Kennedy was human witness to the fact that this may be a government of laws, not men, but that a lot depends on the men.

CORRECTION.

Reference to Senator Johnson of California as a candidate for reelection in 1936 was an error in yesterday's dispatch—by just four years.

NOTES.

Jokes and "Ding" Darling have made up and jokes will see that wild ducks get a fair show. Lame placed Koenig with Mellen will now be shoved aside. The oldsters will tell them: "You had your chance and look what a mess you made of it"—ignoring the point that no group in power could have made headway under existing circumstances. This may not be just—but it's a swell excuse to justify the restoration of veteran leadership. An astute observer comments on the "irresistible urge" of the oldsters to recapture the Republican party.

SHADOW.

New York rates Harry Hopkins' "surrender" on prevailing wage rates for the Works Progress Administration a shrewd move to cement the newly strengthened ties between the administration and the American Federation of Labor—and believe it was dictated by FDR in person.

In practice, it won't make any difference to the workers' incomes. They will still get the substance wage set by the government—only they will work fewer hours to earn it. Perhaps this will have some effect in bolstering the wage scales of workers privately employed in the construction industry—but insiders doubt it. Of course the concession does not have the effect of ending WPA strikes which is something gained all around.

You hear it said that the A. F. of L. has been fighting for a shadow—thus giving the President a lovely opportunity to make a graceful gesture that doesn't cost anyone a cent—not even the taxpayer.

OFFICERS.

American shipping companies are evidently fearful that labor unrest may spread to ship's officers. On some lines officers have been required to sign a pledge of loyalty to the owners and agree in writing not to adhere to previous pledges to other organizations—meaning the Masters, Mates and Pilots Association and the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association—and the Commission's other work, except for routine duties of enforcement and investigation, is pretty well completed.

HOPE.

Naturally New York is agog to know who his successor will be. There's a deep-rooted conviction that the Securities Act and the Securities Exchange Act have been workable from the financial viewpoint only because they have been fairly and intelligently administered—and that a hostile SEC chairman could wreck the investment banking and brokerage business beyond repair.

The day that Kennedy quit the phone lines were humming with nervous inquiries. Financial men were sounding out every Washington contact they could reach. They couldn't get a single clue that amounted to anything. FDR is keeping his thoughts on the subject completely to himself.

However, there is a general impression that he will name an outsider to the chairmanship rather than promote one of the Commission's present members. There is also a prayerful hope, based on the President's assurance of a breathing spell and other indications that he is leaning again towards the right—that the nominee will not be a radical bent on destroying Wall Street institutions.

FAMILIAR.

It shows how times change to find a number of financial men actually expressing the wish that Commissioner James M. Landis will get the job.

A year ago the boys were thoroughly convinced that Landis had cloven hoofs. Now they have watched him in action they concede that he has shown himself fair-minded and practical. More than that, he is familiar with the machinery and would therefore be unlikely to jam the gears.

URGE.

Chase Mellen's defeat as New York County Republican chairman means that the Old Guard is back in the saddle. Mellen made a good many enemies during his tenure of office through unfilled promises. He was also charged with blowing his own horn too loudly—he did hire a personal publicity agent—instead of devoting himself to the party's welfare. But unpopularity accruing from these causes would not have sufficed to unseat him if the Mills-Hilles faction hadn't made up their minds to give him the works. The skids were greased with politics of the most practical kind.

Kenneth Simpson—who takes Mellen's place—is no Koenig by a long shot. The former local GOP leader is out of the picture. But insiders predict a revival of the policy which Koenig developed so successfully—an understanding with Tammany for mutual benefits. In this case the benefits would be Tammany's return to power in New York City on the one hand and Mr. Roosevelt's defeat in New York State on the other.

The GOP "wound guard" who replaced Koenig with Mellen will now be shoved aside. FLOOD CONTROL IS TOPIC FOR DEBATE

ANAHEIM, Sept. 24.—Rotarians yesterday heard a debate on the question of the $6,620,000 bonds which come before the voters Oct. 4 as part of a $12,994,000 project for water conservation and flood control for Orange county.

PROSPECTS FOR POULTRY AND EGGS BETTER

The Orange county egg and poultry outlook for the remaining months of 1935 is favorable, according to the agricultural outlook summary released today by the farm adviser's office, based on studies made by the division of agricultural economics, University of California.

Both egg and poultry prices, according to the farm adviser, are likely to continue at higher levels than last year. In view of the increase in numbers of hens in California, it was stated, poultrymen would do well to proceed more slowly with additions to their flocks.

Fewer Chickens
California chickens, the report showed, are probably from one-fourth to one-third fewer in number than they were five years ago. Judging from hatchery sales and the receipts of medium and small eggs, chicken numbers in the state will increase relatively more than in the nation by January 1, 1936. In July, 1935, young birds were probably more than a tenth more numerous than in 1934.

The average farm egg price in the United States for April, May and June, 1935, was over 50 percent higher than it was during the average for the same months in 1932. California producers were paid approximately 50 percent more during these months than during the similar period for the years mentioned.

Future Prices Higher
Future prices for October delivery are averaging almost four cents more than a year ago. In Southern California and San Francisco, the report continued, egg quotations in 1935 will average higher than in any year since 1930. The greatest demand this fall will be for large extras, since medium and small eggs will be in relatively greater supply. Chicken supplies, it was stated, will probably be smaller than in 1934-35, although in California supplies of live spring chickens of the broiler and fryer age were large during the late spring and summer.

Complete data concerning the outlook for the industry may be secured at the farm adviser's office, it was stated.

MRS. IRVINE PICKS ENTRIES FROM RANCH STOCK HORSES THAT WIN AWARDS AT FAIRS

Due to the interest of Mrs. James Irvine, the Irvine Ranch has carved its name deeply in the records for famous show horses in the state of California.

In the past the Irvine ranch didn't figure in horse shows. But a year ago, Mrs. Irvine decided to show a single horse and picked one from the stock horses at the ranch.

"Polly", a Steeldust, just one-half thoroughbred, born and raised on the ranch, and broken and trained by Bill Goodwin, Irvine employee for the past several years was entered in the Los Angeles county fair at Pomona, coming off with the stake prize and the blue ribbon in the lightweight class.

More Winners
This started things off at the ranch. This year, Mrs. Irvine decided to show another mare, a Palomino, named "Nona." Later in the year "Cookie" the third entry was made at Pomona. The three all but swept all the prizes at the Pomona fair this year. "Cookie", broken by B. Edwards and out for the first time this season, won second place in the novice class and was the winner of the heavyweight class.

"Polly" came through, winning the lightweight class prize and also taking the stakes at Pomona. But Pomona has not been the only scene of victory for the Irvine horses this year. "Polly" won third place in the lightweight class at Coronado, early in the season; took first in the open class, won the stakes, and was judged second in the polo class. Shipped then to Santa Barbara, she won the lightweight class and was fifth in the stakes.

In Many Shows
At Menlo Park, this one-half thoroughbred took second in the stakes and third in the lightweight class. Down at Stockton, "Polly" was second in the lightweight class, won the open and was second in the stakes. At Sacramento at the state fair, she was second in the open; and was winner of the big stake there. Coming from there to Pomona, she won the lightweight class and was fifth in the stakes.

One of the main features of the day's program will be a dinner at the White House cafe. TUSTIN GROUP TO GIVE PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT

TUSTIN, Sept. 24.—"Jonesy," a three-act comedy written by Anne Morrison and John Peter Tooley, will be presented by the Tustin Thespian club under the direction of Norman Mennas at 7:45 p. m. Friday in the auditorium of Tustin Union High school. Miss May Rose Borum, high school dramatics instructor, is supervising the production. Regular rehearsals have been under way for several weeks.

"Jonesy" is the story of an American family that finds plenty of trouble with their collegiate son who is out for a rousing summer vacation. The role of the lovesick but "revengeful" son is taken by Elmer Osterman. His dashing partner in crime, Billy, is played by Edgar Pankey. The trouble starts when the son meets an actress, enacted by Miss Marian Carson and when the girl next door, played by Miss Martha Snow, meets Billy. The roles of the father and mother are played by James Doyle and Miss Lucille Griest.

Others taking part in the comedy are Miss Marie LaBrucherie, Donald Watson, Miss Rachel Jones, Elmer Ritner, Stanley Wilson, Charles Kiser and Martin Bowman.

The Thespian club was organized about two years ago of students graduated from Tustin Union High school, who agreed to keep up their interest in amateur dramatics. Miss Audrey Pieper will present several pipe organ numbers preceding the play.

"Asthma and the Chiropactic Sphere" is the topic of tonight's informative lecture by Dr. James Workman, well known chiropractor, to be delivered during the "Keep Smiling" program on KREG tonight at 6 o'clock.

Dr. Workman will explain in detail the cause of an asthmatic condition and how chiropractic treats the cause to remove the effect. "The chiropractic massage teaches and the professional science proves that the cause of disease does not exist outside the body but is found within and is the answer to good health," Dr. Workman said.

The "Keep Smiling" programs are presented by Doctors Workman every Tuesday at the same hour and are well received by a large number of listeners, it was stated.

Santa Anans In Radio Broadcasts

The first of two special broadcasts, sponsored by the Santa Ana P. T. A. and presented by Frank Henderson, superintendent of Santa Ana schools; J. C. Horton and Carl Mock, well-known businessmen of Santa Ana, who will speak briefly on behalf of the school bonds election, will be made from KREG tonight at 7 o'clock.

The second broadcast, presenting the Rev. Albert E. Kelly, Sam Hurwitz and Superintendent Henderson, will be made tomorrow night at 6:15.

RADIO FEATURES

Lawrence Tibbett, noted Metropolitan baritone, will inaugurate his first series of programs over the nationwide Columbia network including KHJ at 4:30 this afternoon.

Clem McCarthy, famous turf authority, will give the blow-by-blow description of the Baer/Louis fight to be broadcast over KFI at 6 tonight. Other aspects of heavy-weight battle at the Yankee Stadium in New York will be covered by Edwin C. Hill, nationally known newspaperman and radio commentator.

Dedicating his 445th Inglewood Park Concert to a "Romance in Old Vienna," Frederick Stark tonight will present two distinguished vocalists as guest stars of the broadcast, combining their talents to introduce a new duet team to southland listeners in the persons of Miss Yvonne de Roulet, mezzo-soprano, and Frederick Bittke, lyric baritone. The program is released over KHJ at 7.

How Spencer Dean, the Man-hunter, from the slim evidence of broken candy showcases and the bombing of the Lollypop Factory, deduced the curious connection with the jewels of the Romanoffs, will be learned when the Eno Crime Clues mystery drama "The Candy Stick Up" is presented over KFI at 9:30 tonight.

WEDNESDAY

The first of two broadcasts over the Columbia network including KHJ from the National Eucharistic Congress in Cleveland will be heard on Wednesday from 9:30 to 10 a. m. TALK ON NATIONAL PARKS IS SCHEDULED

"National Parks As Wildlife Sanctuaries" titles the second in the series of informative talks prepared by the U. S. department of the Interior and scheduled to tonight at 8:45 on KREG.

Tonight's talk will include many interesting and odd facts regarding preservation of wildlife in the national parks. It was stated that "acting on the idea of protection, no one is allowed to shoot the members of the fauna, or pluck the flowers, or harm the trees, for they all play an important part in the great pageant of nature whose balance is like that of a delicate instrument; the slightest deflection upsets the whole, for the smallest insect or plant has an important place."

These talks are now scheduled at 8:45 for tonight and Wednesday.

"BABY BONDS" TALK TO BE BROADCAST

The fifth in the series of addresses by noted women of the United States will be made by the Honorable Marion Bannister, assistant treasurer of the United States, tonight at 8:15 on KREG.

Subsequent addresses by other prominent women will be broadcast from KREG during the evening hours this week at times to be announced.

Old-Fashioned Cooking Makes Twice the Work

Grandma had to stand over the hot kitchen stove the whole time she was cooking—for fear the food would burn... but NO MORE

The modern woman has changed to an electric range and lets the automatic controls do the watching... here's an interesting letter from Mrs. Binder...

"I have been using an electric range and refrigerator for the past seven years and have recently installed an electric water heater.

"If anyone has any hesitancy about buying any one of these three appliances, I would like to say they need have no fear and once they use them, they could not get along with anything less efficient, clean and satisfactory. The warmest day last week I preserved apricots all day, using the surface burners and the oven, a task which would have been impossible, in my tiny studio apartment with any other fuel."

The Wise Old Owl Says

World-Wide News Events Told In Pictures

A magic looking-glass carried a certain Alice to a wonder world. Yvonne doesn't yet know it, but these sun glasses will do the same for her. She came across them during her afternoon siesta in a sunny corner of the Dionne veranda. Her straw bonnet attractively framing her tousled locks, she looks about to see whom to thank for the new "toy." Then—

The thrill of her brief lifetime—an amber world, where all had been bright and sunny a moment before! Maybe the Magic Spectacles are a bit large, or perhaps Yvonne wants to contrast the sunlit world with the tinted one. Anyway, one startled eye can be seen peering from behind the right lens. And her open mouth betrays Yvonne's amazement. Now—

The most entrancing sight of all. Yvonne gazes heavenward, where, a moment ago, fleecy white clouds sailed across a sky of blue. The clouds now are yellow boats on a greenish sea; and Yvonne's wonderment is complete.

Here's a study in alert attention—the Dionne quintuplets posing for their 13-month "birthday" picture. Cecile, left, Yvonne, center, and Annette, right, have their eyes fixed on some nursery incident with expressions ranging from grave concern to evident amusement. But while they sit bolt upright, tiny Marie and Emelle are content to sprawl prone, as Marie studies the camera lens and Emelle fondles a rubber doll. Not much escapes the keen interest and observation of these 10 bright eyes.

You Gussed It! Another Rival

Every time a new child gets a film contract these days, she's marked as possible rival of Shirley Temple. Latest to come under this heading is 4-year-old Patsy O'Connor, shown above, who has been signed by Shirley's own studio. Patsy has been singing and dancing in vaudeville for some time.

Look for These New Faces

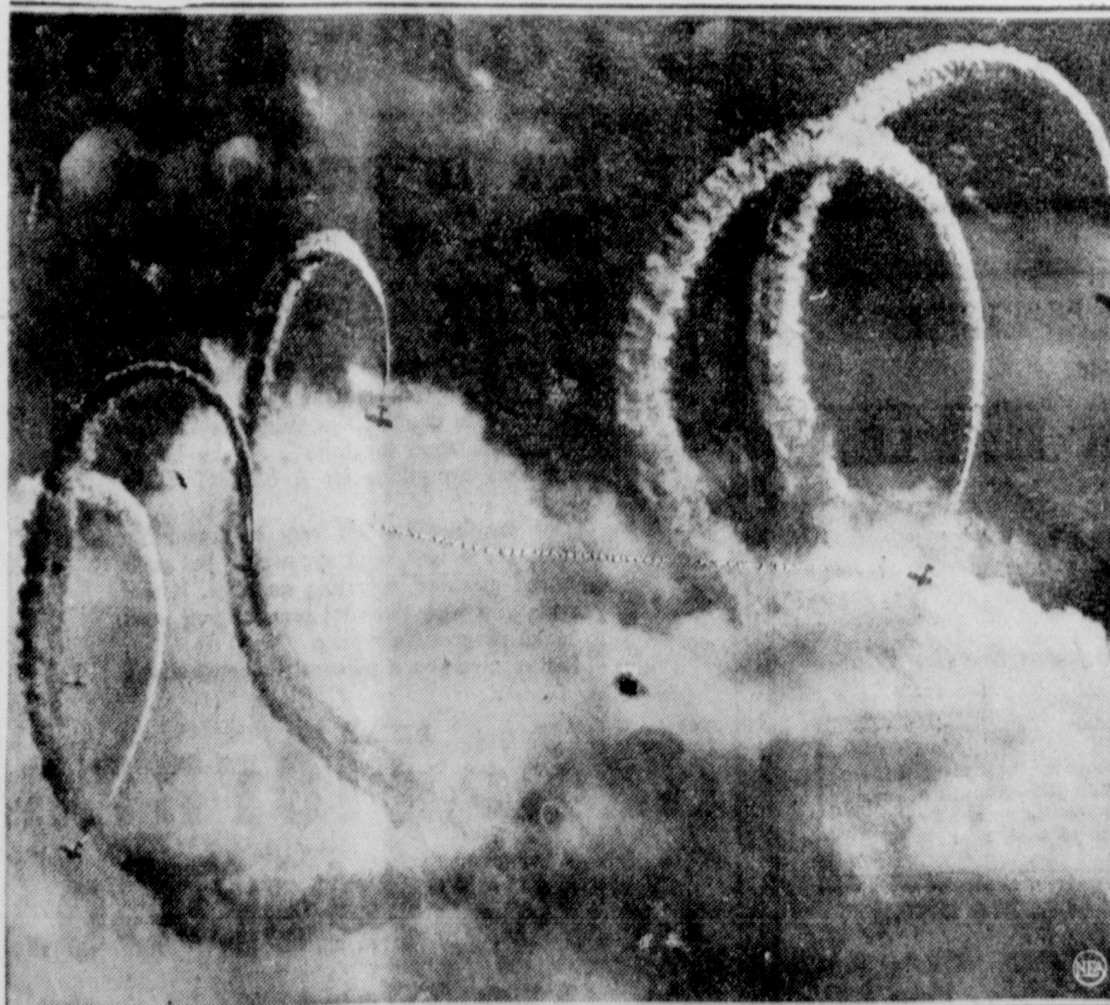

You may have seen all but one of these five faces in the movies, and those in minor roles. But be prepared to see all five featured hereafter in big type on the screen. One of the Hollywood studios has signed these youngsters on long-term contracts. They are (1) Rita Cansino, (2) Barbara Blane, (3) Frances Grant, (4) Madelyn Earle, (5) Rosita Diaz.

Swastika Unfurled on Bremen as Official German Flag

While 2500 members of the crews of three German vessels in New York harbor shouted "Heil!", the Nazi swastika was raised as the German national emblem for the first time. Sailors aboard the S. S. Bremen are shown saluting as the banner, red with a black swastika in a white circle, was unfurled. When the swastika was torn from the Bremen's mast on a previous visit, events leading to its designation as the German national emblem were set in motion.

Aviators Make the Welkin Ring

If, like most folks, you have trouble making smoke rings take a tip from the British aviators and make rings with planes instead of tobacco. Their welkin ringing activities were a feature of preparations at Northolt Aerodrome in England for the Royal Air Force display.

Roosevelt Girls Face Betrothal Quiz

A European tour brought them romance. And Margaret (left) and Medora Roosevelt (right), pictured as they returned to New York, faced a family conference about their recent betrothals to two Italian youths. Papa George Emelen Roosevelt, a distant relative of the President, hasn't expressed his opinion of the matches. Medora announced she would wed Massimo Treves, Milan banker's son; Margaret, Alessandro Pallavicini, a Rome stockbroker's son.

BEAN VARIETY TESTS BEING RUN 3RD YEAR

By E. E. EASTMAN
Assistant Farm Advisor

The third year of bean variety trials made as part of the program of the bean department of the Orange County Farm Bureau and the Agricultural Extension Service is drawing to a close with the threshing of the variety plots this week.

The field trials with outstanding varieties of standard lima beans were instituted to determine whether existing varieties of beans now grown in the state might prove superior to our common varieties, particularly in yield, and secondly in quality as well as disease and pest resistance.

Professor W. W. Mackie of the Agronomy department of the California College of Agriculture, was assigned to assist in the selection and development of varieties throughout the bean growing districts of the state. In cooperation with the growers association as well as individuals, six promising varieties were selected after careful study, and field tests were instituted in Orange and other counties.

The average of these plots taking quality and growth characteristics into account, showed the Flynn variety to be superior. In actual weights the varieties yielded as follows: Nobel, 31 sacks per acre; Peard, 28 sacks per acre; Jones, 23 sacks; Young, 26; Flynn, 33 and Schill, 31.

Since the Flynn and Young tied for first place in yield per acre, these two varieties were tested again in the four principal districts in Orange county on the Yolo, Chino, and Hanford soils. The results were 2666 pounds of beans per acre for the Flynn and 2543 pounds for the Young seed.

In one instance this amounted to a 25 per cent increase over common seed in 1932 and five sacks per acre over a neighboring field. In the interim Prof. Mackie had been making selections from the Flynn variety, and had developed in sufficient quantity for testing three strains, A, B, and C, which are adaptable to different climatic and soil factors. These three variety plots, checked with local known seed, are established in the coastal and Irvine districts, and will be threshed this week in the hope of getting a still better variety of beans to serve until the

BENEFIT BALL WEDNESDAY BY S. A. FIREMEN

Plans were complete today for the staging of the Santa Ana Firemen's Ball, to be held at the American Legion home, on Birch street, Wednesday night, when the firemen will entertain for the first time in the past several years.

Due to the depression, firemen here have refrained from giving dances, according to John Garthe, who is chairman for the dance this year, but the firemen's fund got so low that needed funds had to be raised.

The price of the dance this year is 50 cents instead of the usual $1, and scores of tickets have been sold, assuring a big event, Garthe said.

Roy Romero and his nine piece orchestra will furnish the music and the entertainment for the dance.

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—Hard-working film "extras" find unusual spots to relax between scenes. Only stars, featured players, and directors take chairs. As for the others, one gent was found asleep on a four-inch plank three feet off the stage floor. The plank was bracing two pieces of scenery.

Here, Kitty, Kitty

Four little mice solved a production problem on "The Melody Lingers On" set. A cat was supposed to drowse in Helen Westley's lap and then suddenly leap to the floor without warning, upset a basket of yarn, and dash off. Scene after scene was tried without Tabby doing the leap to the satisfaction of the director. Catnip, saucers of milk, and fish dragged across the floor on a string didn't work. Finally a prop man arrived on the set with a wire cage—and mice. At the right moment the mice were released and the cat leaped for its instinctive prey. The scene was perfect.

STANTON HELD GUILTY AFTER GIRL'S STORY

Robert L. Stanton, of Long Beach, was sentenced to three months in the county jail late yesterday by Superior Judge C. K. Scovel, after a jury trying him on a charge of felonious assault upon Miss Winnie Reed, of San Pedro, had reduced the charge to simple assault by its verdict.

Stanton waived the legal period of delay allowed him by law and accepted sentence immediately on the misdemeanor verdict.

Miss Reed testified at his trial yesterday that Stanton had picked her up on the street in San Pedro and offered her a ride to Long Beach, but, instead, had given her liquor and then drove around Long Beach to a vacant field in Orange county. When she repulsed his advances he beat and kicked her, she claimed.

Stanton claimed that Miss Reed asked him for the ride, drank his liquor and then proposed an affair with him, which he, as a married man, refused. Angered by his refusal the girl attacked him and he merely defended himself, he declared.

The stunts of chin balancing heavy objects done by Milo Brinn have never been equaled. Brinn is capable of balancing a cannon, with carriage and all, on his chin.

Red Cross To Establish County First Aid Stations

AID DEPOTS TO BE INSTALLED AT SIX POINTS

Plans for the establishment of six emergency Red Cross stations at points in the Santa Ana Red Cross district were given approval of the board of directors of the organization and first steps taken toward their establishment, at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon in the Orange County Farm Bureau assembly hall.

The plan calls for the establishment of stations at the end of Fifth street, at the intersection with Garden Grove road; at Sunset Beach, Corona Del Mar, San Juan Capistrano Irvine and San Juan Hot Springs.

It was worked out through the first aid committee of the Red Cross, headed by Harry Edwards, and compiled after a complete survey had been made of the county in order to establish points at which the stations were needed.

The cost of establishment of the stations will be $24.50 for each station, Edwards said, including the erection of a highway sign and purchase of equipment. Trained attendants will be available 24 hours of each day, it was stated, and will be given training for their work through the medium of a 15-course series of instructions, to be given by Dr. W. S. Wehrly, Santa Ana, and Dr. Paul Esslinger, San Juan Capistrano.

Mrs. Esther Chaburn, district Red Cross representative, addressed the meeting, stating that the organization to take active steps toward the establishment of the stations. The National organization, she said, plans the establishment of 15,000 such stations at dangerous points throughout the nation.

Mrs. Chaburn also discussed the national program for enrollment, stating that California had been set a goal of six per cent of the adult population. The Santa Ana goal, she pointed out, is 1850 memberships, with 3400 for the Santa Ana district.

The organization of a county Red Cross council was discussed,

ITALY MARCHES TOWARD WAR

One of Italy's greatest problems in the impending war with Ethiopia is the transportation of hundreds of thousands of troops like these to Africa, together with food, ammunition and supplies for an extensive campaign. Here is shown part of the latest detachment of 65,000 Italian troops as they march toward transport ships.

and Mrs. Chaburn said sub-stations of the council would be established at Orange, in the Chamber of Commerce, Santa Ana, in the City Hall, and at a point to be selected in Fullerton. Mrs. J. Warren was approved as secretary of the council.

ITALY FACES HUGE PROBLEM IN PREPARING FOR CAMPAIGN IN HEAT-DRENCHED ETHIOPIA

By MILTON BRONNER
NFA Staff Correspondent

Not since the United States sent 2,000,000 men to the battlefields of France has any nation been confronted with the problem with which the embattled Italians now are wrestling. They have sent 140,000 soldiers and workers thousands of miles from Italy to Massawa, chief port of Eritrea. In addition to this there has been the dispatch of all that an army needs—artillery, tanks, armored cars, airplanes, motor lorries, horses, mules, oil and petrol, barbed wire and all kinds of machinery, tools, and equipment for the army's engineering corps.

As the army cannot live off the land, it also has been necessary to send endless tons of vegetables, fruit, wheat, rice, macaroni, oil, cheese and wine from the home country.

Early in the game the Italian army and navy authorities found they could not accomplish their task of unloading employing Somali and Arabs, used as they were to the torrid heat. Their methods were too leisurely. In them there was no patriotic urge.

Italian Stevedores
So about 2500 dock workers were brought from all the principal ports of Italy. They have been made to feel that they are fighting for Italy as truly as any soldier. For them a special encampment has been built, and a big hospital ship stands by in case they need medical attention.

With an eye to the climate their work has been divided into two periods. In the morning they labor from 6 to 10 o'clock. When the sudden tropical light from 6 to 10 in the evening. It took African and Arab natives 15 days to unload a boat which the Italian dockers now unload in three.

With a great African colonial war in the offing, the most important of all Italian ports has come to be not Naples nor Venice nor Trieste nor Genoa, but tropical Massawa. If the home Italian ports are busy because of threatened war, Massawa simply seethes with activity, despite a torrid heat which has equatorial fire.

Capital Moved
Massawa has been Italian for about 50 years. For a considerable period it was the capital of Eritrea, the Italian colony north-east of Ethiopia, but in 1900 Asmara succeeded it in that eminence. The reason for the change was obvious.

COUNTY SCHOOL CHILDREN PLAN HEALTH SERIES

The opportunity to fight tuberculosis through the purchase of Christmas Seals was stressed today by Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, while releasing from his office to school teachers throughout the county Christmas Seal programs, or plays, called "Thanks for Health." These plays are historically accurate and can be correlated with social science, hygiene, dramatic art and public speaking, Adkinson said.

Through the cooperation of Mrs. H. C. Brown, program chairman of fourth district P. T. A., and of the various program chairmen of associations throughout the county, the children of each school are being asked to repeat the programs as part of the November meetings of the P. T. A. in the county.

"The fact is well known," Adkinson said, "that tuberculosis germs infect the bodies of a great number of persons and the healthy resistance usually prevents them from getting a foothold. Youth has a mortal enemy in tuberculosis but little knows it, or knowing, seldom heeds the danger."

The tuberculosis organism infects at least 25 per cent of all children up to the age of 15 years, statistics show. Generally the natural resistance of the body keeps the upper hand and no severe damage results. It is not the result of a cold or exposure, but is a dangerous communicable disease, acquired from a person or animal suffering from it.

"The Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association," Adkinson said, "has done much in ameliorating conditions, and cannot be too highly praised for the efficient and kindly manner in which its work is done."

The BLUE DOOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY
RUTH WOODSON, pretty, high-spirited girl of 19, in search of work, seeks refuge from a storm in an old house with a blue door in the little town of Worthville. The owner, a caretaker, BERTHA GIBBS, also known as PENNY, thinks Ruth to be ELAINE CHALMERS, whose father, a wealthy man, has just died, leaving her a large fortune. Ruth, the young man next door, and his father, JOHN McNEILL, who is a doctor, are also in the house. Ruth, who is a doctor, is also in the house. Ruth, who is a doctor, is also in the house.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIV
Just as John McNeill had forgotten his personal problems in his sister's grief, so Ruth Woodson forgot everything but the person who had written the note and dropped it, to flee at her approach. Here was a more intense tragedy than she herself was facing. Someone besides herself had taken refuge in this great, bleak house. Someone had lost the fight here.

Without any thought of fear, Ruth picked up the brass candlestick which supported her lighted candle and went through the dark door of the drawing room. The place was empty and the door into the hall stood open. Someone was going up the stairs. She followed.

The steps, well ahead of her, did not stop at the second floor. On they went, padding up the stairs to the unknown region above. Ruth followed, running lightly and breathlessly.

At the open door of an unlighted room a tall man faced her. "Well?" he said tonelessly.

Ruth said, "I've come to stop you!"

"Go away," he replied coldly.

"No," Ruth told him, "I shan't. Not until we've talked."

The man laughed, softly and unpleasantly. "And what have I to say to the stepdaughter and ward of Higate Deal, my dear niece?"

Ruth said, knowing him now, to be Duncan Hunter, "I'm not Elaine Chalmers. I've only pretended to be. I've been hiding behind the blue door, too. Tomorrow I'm going away."

She noticed a certain elegance about the tall, thin man wrapped in the old lounge robe. His features were sharply and beautifully set. His eyes were black and deep-set. His abundant hair was half-silver, half-brown, making it difficult to guess his age.

Ruth said, "You're Duncan Hunter."

PALM TREES IN PLAZA TRIMMED

ORANGE, Sept. 24.—Palms in the Plaza were trimmed yesterday of seeds and blossoms to prevent their falling when fully developed and to afford a better view of the Christmas star and tree to be placed in the plaza at Christmas time.

The plaza contains a number of palm trees with four California fan palms set in a hollow square in the center. On the north side are four ornamental date palms. The smallest palm tree growing in the square is the oldest and is a sago palm now about to blossom for the first time in three years. The tree is more than 50 years old and has attained a height of but six feet. New leaves form after each period of blossoming, three years apart.

According to Michael Estock, city gardener, the majority of persons visiting the plaza, believe that the ornamental date palm is the fruit bearing variety which does not fully develop in this climate. Estock states that there are eight date palms in this vicinity, four at the Anthony place in Villa park, which have borne fruit which has been marketed whenever pollenization has been accomplished; two on South Grand street and two on the Nunn place on West Palmyra avenue. One of the most unusual palms is an Australian cocos palm, with leaves of a bluish tinge and which bears edible yellow fruit with a rather acid taste.

THE TIMMIES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The fine canoe that Scouty made atop the rippling water played, and then it started drifting and it soon was far from shore.

Wee Goldy, with a long stick, tried to reach it. Then she loudly cried, "Oh, now you've lost it. We can't watch it bob 'round any more."

"Just wait and see," said Scouty. "Say, I'll soon be on my merry way right out to where the boat is. Then I'll bring it back to land."

"I made that boat myself, you see, and it won't get away from me. I'll swim right out, or walk out, if it's not too deep to stand."

The next thing that the Timies knew, he did just what he said he'd do. It wasn't very long until he reached the little boat.

"Twas quickly brought right back to shore. 'Now, it won't drift off any more,' said Scouty. 'I will use a string, when next it's set afloat.'"

And then the whole bunch heard a yell, and copy shouted, "Well, well, well! Here comes our wee friend, Duncy. He's a funny sight to see."

"With paint someone has smeared his face, he'd better join the Indian race. He'd make a dandy brave, if he was brave as he could be."

"Put on a war dance," Windy cried. "It's easy, lad, when once it's tried." "Okay," yelled Duncy. "Someone thump that little Indian drum, dancs dance, and I am game to dancs dance, and I am game to take a chance. It will not take

WHISTLING MEWING GROWLING BIRD

MANY unusual noises come from a flightless bird of New Zealand that is about the size of a chicken. It whistles, it mewls like a cat, it growls like a dog. And it's known by the diminutive name of Kiwi, or Apteryx.

Since it can't fly, the Kiwi is a fast runner. It stays in its nest under the roots of a tree, or in a hole in a bank, and comes out only at night for its food of worms and insects. And, as small as it is, the hen lays eggs each one-fourth its weight, and then lets the cock-bird hatch them.

Another peculiarity of this fast-dwindling bird is its long pointed beak, close to the tip of which are its slit nostrils, the only bird known to have nostrils so close to the edge of the beak.

New Zealand illustrates this bird on one of its latest stamps, although that country also showed the bird on a stamp of 1898.

THE FORUM A REVIVAL OF THE TOWN MEETING

The settlers of New England established a popular forum when they established the town meeting. From time to time, the citizens were gathered together in assembly to decide upon matters of local concern.

Not a street could be paved, not a light could be placed, not a purchase could be made by officials, not a dollar could be spent, which was not authorized by the action of the town meeting.

The town meeting has been a unique institution in the American scene. It is unfortunate that the scattered communities of the frontier could not have continued it. But that was a condition over which the Western pioneers had no control.

The town meeting has been one of the greatest civil and political educational institutions in our American life. It brought men together to discuss and form opinions on matters of civil and social concern with a high degree of intelligence and a complete knowledge of all the facts.

The popular forum is the institution which does more to carry on that old town meeting tradition than any other agency in our modern life. Where these forums have discussed with freedom all the issues that face us in this complex age of ours, there has not only been a greater intelligence in deciding matters of civil and social concern, but the action resulting has usually been much more beneficial for the mass of our citizens.

A forum, to be a real forum, must present all points of view, the unpopular as well as the popular. The leaders should be constructive in their plans, but every "crackpot" should have a reasonable opportunity to ask a leading question and have it dispassionately answered.

It should be remembered, as some one has said, that a reformer cannot always choose his own company. "He must associate with the rattle-headed, the hot-headed, and the sore-headed. But so also with the conservative. He must associate with the bone-headed."

It is a matter of regret that there are so many who fear open discussion. The soap-box is set down on every public square throughout the country.

All sorts of nostrums and panaceas are there advocated. The great mass of the people has never heard the ideas there expressed. They should know.

If the constructive geniuses of the soap-box fraternity should be called in to address a public forum, there to be questioned by those who differ with them, it certainly would be for the good of all concerned.

Nothing would do more good in this country, with all our prophets calling "Lo here," and "Lo there," than to give them a hearing when they have something to say, and learn how "looney they may be, or, possibly, how wise."

A RAY OF HOPE

Mussolini now says that the proposition which he recently submitted to the League of Nations, under the conditions of which he would have had half of Abyssinia, and the Abyssinians would be disarmed, wasn't an "official proposition."

Baron Aloisi stated, when he submitted it, that it was "official" and had Mussolini's approval. Yet, if Mussolini now says that it was done simply in a "sense of humor," the world will be glad to accept this little "joke."

The changed attitude of Il Duce, when he saw the reception his proposition received, is certainly pregnant with some interesting possibilities. Very clearly Mussolini is not of the mind to cut himself entirely from fairly friendly relationships with the other great nations of Europe.

It seems now, on the surface of it, that he knows that he cannot go on the way he had planned. He must give Great Britain assurances, at least, that her interests in Africa will not in the least be jeopardized.

This may be an impossibility. In any case, the League of Nations has pretty nearly caught Mussolini bluffing.

But this gives an opportunity for at least a discussion stage. Friday hostilities were going to open.

It looked 24 hours ago, as though there were no possibility of the avoidance of war. Things look a little different now. Mussolini is not as mad, it seems, as some of the people believe.

We may now have some hope that war will be averted.

WAR LOANS

Have we learned that financing the other fellow's war does not pay?

With war clouds over Europe, every sort of attempt will be made to buy goods for paper promises to pay.

The Johnson act will protect us from the "opportunity" of buying foreign government obligations, but the banking authorities at Washington should be on the lookout for "commercial paper" from belligerent areas, to make sure that we are not financing a war through short-term securities, which appear to be innocent transactions between citizens of friendly nations.

Our experience with Germany should have taught us that a country which cannot pay its mortgage indebtedness cannot pay its 30, 60 or 90 day notes. But the latter instruments, arising between two traders or merchants, appear very innocent when compared with a government bond, but may be equally valueless.

By the end of 1916, our large banking institutions and war profits industries were so loaded down with promises to pay that the very hope and desire to have them all paid in full first made the holder partial to the Allies, then a booster for their cause and finally forced us into war.

Let us therefore close the doors to our treasury vaults, whether they be public or private, to all borrowers who seek to use such funds for war purposes.

While economic disaster did not follow until 11 years after the close of the war, the financial disarrangement of all the money systems of the world was due to the financing of the last World war.

While tradesmen and financial leaders sought to determine the value of the dollar, pound, franc, etc., millions of unfortunate people suffered from the ills of the depression.

We know now that war profits exact a terrible price in human misery. By all means let us be vigilant in our effort to prevent the financing of any war, whether by bonds, corporation securities, or short-term notes.

The increased control of the banking system, as enacted during the last session of Congress, may prove to be the means of preventing the sale of European securities which, without this piece of legislation, might be extensive despite the Johnson bill.

A FINE CONTRIBUTION

The people of the United States will receive with deep regret the news of the resignation of Frank B. Kellogg from the World Court.

Mr. Kellogg has been an intelligent friend and promoter of peace for many years. His course, as Secretary of State, was one which could not help meeting the approval of all those who would ban war.

The part he played, in establishing and having approved the Kellogg-Briand Peace pact, gave cause for gratitude, on the part of every one who was opposed to the settlement by the sword of differences between nations.

He carried through the program with Premier Briand with skill and devotion. And it was the first outstanding agreement, that many nations signed, in which they agreed that war was an outlaw and was not the method of settling international disputes.

The pact enabled all the lovers of peace, in every nation which was a signatory to that pact, not only to support, but insist upon peaceable procedure, with a constant assurance they were in harmony, in such effort, with the action of their own government.

That gave an impetus to the peace movement in this and every other country that is still being sustained. It has been the yardstick by which the action of the nations have been measured.

And the shock to the conscience of the world, when Japan marched into Manchuria and China, and when Italy began her operations against Abyssinia, was in a large measure due to the contrast between those actions and the agreement which these nations signed in the Kellogg Peace pact.

Mr. Kellogg does not state the reasons for his resignation. But it is to be sincerely hoped that in the selection of his successor to the place upon this important tribunal, that one none the less devoted to the cause of peace shall take Mr. Kellogg's place.

He leaves a vacancy which has been filled, from the United States, by the renowned jurists, John Bassett Moore, Charles Evans Hughes and himself.

Let's Cut Expense, Not Increase Tax

San Bernardino Sun

There are students of state government who expect the ultimate answer to heavy public expenses will be bankruptcy and a constitutional convention that will wipe out all of the existing guarantees to everybody and everything touching upon state finances.

That the state's financial problems are not solved is indicated by the forecast by State Controller Ray L. Riley that by June 30, 1937, there will be $56,000,000 in registered warrants awaiting payment.

Out of the increased concern over state expenses—as indicated by the special election defeat of state bond issues—there may develop campaign issues.

We sometimes wonder what might happen if a candidate for governor would pledge himself to reduce state expenditures $50,000,000 a biennium and start his campaign long enough in advance to circulate an initiative petition that would remove the existing constitutional guarantees that now tie the hands of the legislature and the governor. All of which is not intended as an apology for the last session of the legislature which made not the slightest gesture toward curtailment of state expense and on the contrary devoted its greatest energies to seeking new forms of taxation.

If a candidate for governor could go before the people and point to a measure on the ballot at the same election that would solve the state's financial problems he might make a powerful race—provided the minorities that would be separated from soft jobs and costly pet ideas of government are not able to muster enough strength to beat him. It is true that if John Doe is threatened with the loss of his job—however useless that job may be—he is able under existing conditions to muster sympathizers. But it might be that if there is to be an honest effort to get the state of California down to necessities in public service the people would rally to the idea.

The present trend in official circles is to meet the financial crisis by raising more revenues through new taxation rather than to give thought to the possibilities of elimination of existing expenses. Conferences are soon to be underway at Sacramento to study the possibilities of a severance tax that would result in increased cost of living and decreased employment.

Airplane Travel Not 'Usual'

Santa Barbara News

More and more people are traveling by airplane, yet a federal judge has ruled that, under the law, it cannot be considered as a usual means of transportation.

The decision was made in the case of a subpoena served in Atlantic City on William Fox, the movie producer, requiring his appearance in the New York courts.

Such a subpoena is good, if served outside the judicial district in which proceedings are being held, only if served within 100 miles of the place of examination. It was argued that the distance by air was less than this maximum but the judge ruled the law referred to distance by the shortest ordinary and usual road of public, and that an airline could not be so considered.

That seems to us a distinct reversion to "horse and buggy" reasoning recently referred to by President Roosevelt.

ESSAY ON WOMEN

"Girls must all be lovely creatures. To be taken on as teachers"

Says a member of a school board in the town of Rockford, Ill.

"They should make a daily duty Of improving health and beauty"

Though their knowledge of their calling May be pretty nearly nil."

Dear old foolish School Board Member, Just hark back and you'll remember

That the teachers of your childhood If they chanced to have the looks,

For extremely cogent reasons Didn't last for many seasons.

When they met some handsome charmer They had no more use for books.

Pretty girls have no vocation For the art of education.

They do not teach for glory But for hard and needful cash.

Jobs for them are temporary For they always hope to marry

Some one who can take in ducats And who wears a cute moustache.

IN CONCLUSION And I would not seek to blame them; I would cheer them on instead,

Every female in creation Ought to have her chance to wed.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

LABOR'S STAKE IN CENTRALIZATION

An enlightened labor leadership will ponder carefully the issue of an intense centralization of power in the federal government.

During the economic emergency every organized minority in the country has seen in a friendly national power a short cut to its desires.

There is no question but that, given a national administration friendly to labor, the organized labor movement can for the time being achieve gains in membership and prestige more quickly than it normally can by the slow methods of education and self-development of its forces.

There is no question but that, given a national administration friendly to agricultural interests, farmers can for the time being jack their money income more quickly than could be expected otherwise.

In like manner, there is no question but that, given a national administration friendly to business interests, and there have been many such administrations, business men can reap quick advantage from federal power exercised in their behalf.

But life and enterprise go on, regardless of the particular sympathies of any particular administration, and a national policy such as a high centralization of power in Washington should be considered in terms of what it means over a half century with varying kinds of administrations in control.

So often reform movement does no more than create machinery and accumulate power which a few years later are used against the very group or groups for whose benefit the machinery was created and the power accumulated.

And then vast power when centralized tends inevitably to run the show as it sees best, which means that organized labor may be committing ultimate suicide when it beats the drums for the all-dominant state. Let time elapse and labor find itself demanding of government concessions and assistance that government is not inclined to grant and labor may well feel the strong arm, which it thought would always hold it, actually cracking down.

There was much in the Gompers philosophy of organized labor that needed modernizing, but I suspect he was eternally sound in his insistence that labor should, granted decent social legislation, have its own row in the matter of accumulating power and prestige.

TOO DRAMATIC

"I've come to hear the class read, Miss Maria. You would like to read to me, wouldn't you, children?"

"Yes, Miss Anne."

Miss Maria signaled for the readers to be distributed, selected the story and handed a book to Miss Anne. Now Miss Anne was the new inspector, young and pretty and excited about her new position. Her dress was a pale blue thing that shimmered and floated and shone. About her neck hung a slender gold chain, holding a glittering blue pendant that swung and swayed as she moved. She moved a lot, nodding her head, waving her hands, bending toward each little performer with winning grace.

A bombastic person is one who expresses simple thoughts in a high-falutin affected manner, or, to put it bombastically, a person who eschews the elementary in favor of the turgid and flamboyant, pop said. I'll give you a concrete example. Suppose I wanted to say that your mother never knows where she's put her diamond ring, he said.

Kindly choose some other example, that joke has been worn threadbare, and never did have any point, ma said. And she looked at her hands, saying, Where is my diamond ring by the way? Willyum Potts did you see that ring, have you got that ring? she said, and pop said, To go on with my illustration, a bombastic rendering of that same thought would be as follows. One of the inveterate idiosyncrasies of your maternal progenitor is her perennial inability to advise herself of the temporary local habitation of the circular band containing her fragment of cristallized carbon of great refractive power.

Willyum, have you got that ring or haven't you, or do you want me to throw something at you? ma said, and pop said, My dear, it's safe in my wallet, or, to speak slightly more bombastically, it's secure from molestation in the subdivided receptacle which encases my currency for the infinitesimal fraction of time during which I manage to keep it in my possession.

And he took out his wallet and gave ma her diamond ring and laughed like anything, the result being ma got so mad he had to take her to the movies.

In the Long Ago

25 Years Ago Today

SEPTEMBER 24, 1910

Glenn L. Martin is making satisfactory recovery from right arm injuries, sustained two days ago when he was dragged fully one hundred yards by the bi-plane upon which he was making some adjustment. He had been making short flights on the mesa at the foot of South Main street, to test and adjust the machinery. He then made a long flight of fully three-fourths of a mile, landed and turned the machine around leaving the throttle open enough to keep the motor going. It was his intention to start the engine, run around the end of the machine and mount from the front. But the propeller got into swift action and the bi-plane started down the field, dragging Martin some distance before he brought it under control.
